Sponsors of Wagner Bill Seeking Trade with Big Business Opponents

WASHINGTON — Wagner Labor Disputes bill strategists have a secret plan they believe will greatly enhance the chances of pushing their measure through Congress.

Big business is vigorously opposed to this legislation. But also Big Business is anxious that the NRA be continued.

Congressmen report they now are receiving a considerable volume of mail from large business men and organizations strongly urging them to vote for a new NRA act.

This anxiety to retain the NRA is based upon the plan of the Wagner Bill sponsors.

They propose trading their support of an NRA bill in return for acceptance of the Wagner Bill. And to make sure there is no slipup on the swap, they will require that the Wagner Bill be incorporated in the NRA act.

They say, can be done very easily by substituting it for the famous Section 2a, the so-called "collective bargaining" provision of the NRA.

With the NRA expiring automatically on June 16 unless new legislation is enacted, the Wagnerites are in a strong position to force their foes to come to terms.

A determined filibuster very easily could thwart an NRA vote.

Therefore concessions by the Administration and big business are going to be in order if they want to put through a new NRA act.

Clown's Complaint

Texas Representative Maury Maverick is a member of The Circus Fins of America. Recently he received the following letter from a circus clown:

Dear Mr. Maverick:

I have noted recently a tendency in the public press and in Congress to refer to certain individuals as "clowns" and to certain occasions as a "three-ring circus." It seems to me that this is most unfair to the clown, for years the friend of children and the purveyor of happiness and joy of the cleanest and most delightful kind.

Then too, the circus with its centuries of tradition, its honorable history of cleanliness should not be used as a comparison with events that are absurd and disgusting.

I hope that the next time some member of Congress attempts to compare a demagogic individual with a clown, or an absurd occasion with a circus, you will properly protest.

Fight for Life

The tide of momentous activity flows fast and strong about the White House these Spring days. There is busy hustle from early morning until late at night.

But in a room overlooking the south grounds on the second floor of the historic mansion there is a tenderly guarded quiet and solitude.

In this hushed chamber, a wasted figure is waging a gallant and dramatic fight.

For weeks Louis McHenry Howe, great friend and secretary of the President, has fought this stirring battle. For days his life was despaired of. Hourly he was expected to succumb.

But to the delighted amazement of his doctors, "Louey" rallied on the brink's edge and slowly began his desperate fight back to recovery.

Louey lives in an oxygen tent. He reads the newspapers and starts his friends by calling them up from a telephone beside his bed.

His doctors say the gallant little

CONSERVANCY NEED SCORED BY ENGINEERS

Army Men Report Scioto Project Economically Unwarranted

LEARN MORE LATER

Rep. Fiesinger Working for Huge Project

WASHINGTON, April 18 — The Scioto-Sandusky conservancy project in Ohio ran into a temporary snag here today when the board of army engineers intimated that from a detailed study of the proposed plan, it appears to be economically unwarranted.

Total cost of the project has been roughly estimated by the army engineers at $18,000,000. Benefits are estimated at approximately $131,200 a year.

On this basis of computation, it was pointed out by the engineers, the project would not appear economically warranted.

More Comes Later

This report, however, made to Rep. William L. Fiesinger (D) of Ohio, one of the most active sponsors of the project, is only partial. A full report on the entire project will be made soon and Rep. Fiesinger declared he would await complete data before seeking action by the house committee on Flood control.

The Scioto-Sandusky diversion project is comprised of three main parts — a dam on the Scioto river at Bellport, a dam on the Sandusky river seven miles above Upper Sandusky, and a canal connecting these two reservoirs.

The proposed dam at Bellport would be located just above the mouth of Millcreek and would form a reservoir with a capacity of 49,700 acre feet. The discharge from the reservoir would be controlled by sluiceways provided with suitable regulating facilities.

Form Reservoir

The dam at McCutcheonville, near Tiffin, and on the Sandusky river would form a reservoir of 250,000 acre feet and would be connected to the Bellport dam by a 10-mile canal across the low section of the divide separating the Sandusky and Scioto rivers.

Combined storage capacity of the two reservoirs would be 309,700 acre feet, the board of army engineers reported, and the excess flow at the two dam sites during flood stage is less than 200,000 acre feet, so that there would be storage capacity provided in excess of flood control need, which could be used for the development of hydro-electric power.

COLUMBUS, April 18 — Snapping back that the army board of engineers' estimate was "ridiculously low," officials of the Scioto-Sandusky conservancy district here gave warning today that they

7 INJURED IN FERA STRIKE

Foreman Badly Beaten As Violence Flares In Huron-co Relief Trouble

NORWALK, April 18 — A foreman of an FERA project was badly beaten about the head and the six men in his work crew were injured less seriously when open violence flared today for the first time in the two-week-old strike of 200 FERA workers throughout Huron-co.

The battle broke out when a gang of 25 strikers set upon a work crew at Greenwich, 15 miles south of Norwalk. Sticks were wielded and stones thrown as the strikers attempted to prevent the men from working on a water line project.

Paul Henderson of Norwalk, the foreman, suffered severe head injuries and was treated at the office of a physician. The six men in his crew were treated at the scene for bruises and lacerations.

CLARK NAMED RING LEADER

Warden Now Has 90 On Bread and Water; Dillinger Aide Refuses to Work

COLUMBUS, April 18 — While the number of convicts placed in solitary confinement at Ohio Penitentiary as the outgrowth of the strike of 1,000 convicts there grew to 90, Warden J. C. Woodard today named Russell Clark, former machine gunner of the John Dillinger gang, as one of the "ring leaders" in the now-crushed walk-out.

Clark, serving a life term for the murder of Sheriff Jess Sarber at Lima, Ohio, Oct. 12, 1933 when Dillinger himself was "rescued" from the county jail there, was one of the original 78 strikers who were placed in the "hole" yesterday as Warden Woodard "broke" the strike with a show of the full force of the 204 guards at the penitentiary.

"While we have not completed the investigation to determine just who was responsible for the strike," said the warden, "I am satisfied that Clark was one of the ring leaders. At least, he is refusing to work and thereby has become one of the agitators and trouble-makers in the institution."

CAMPAIGN FOR PARK IN CITY WINS SUPPORT

Goeller Names Council Committee to Work With Citizens TO SOLICIT FUNDS

Believe $10,000 Needed for Ground, Park

The match was touched to a fuse setting in operation a drive for funds with which to purchase land and construct a recreation park. Wednesday evening, when Joseph Adkins, Jr., and a number of other interested persons appeared at the council meeting. Adkins was spokesman for the group.

He expressed the need of a recreation park with a swimming pool, ball ground and other forms of playground activity and said that plans are now being made to make such a thing a reality through popular subscription. A resolution adopted by council to give the movement an authentic background was asked and Council President John Goeller named the finance committee, Ben Gordon, W. M. Reid and Clyde O. Leist to act with the group.

As FERA Project

No city funds will be needed for the project, Adkins said, with all labor to be obtained through FERA. He estimated the cost of such a project including the site would be about $10,000.

Councilman Frank Marion said he believed this figure low.

Adkins, an attorney, cited a number of towns and cities that have adequate playground facilities and said such attractions are considered when industries are seeking a location.

It is the plan of the group to have every civic group of the city enrolled on a general committee in an effort to make the recreation park an actuality.

Others Are Heard

Others who spoke in the interest of the project were:

Mrs. W. W. Robinson, head of the girl scout movement; Frank Fischer, superintendent of schools; Col. C. E. Groce, John Goeller and F. A. Marion.

It is probable a committee on parks will be added to the list now included in the council's set-up.

TOUGH GUY KAYOED BY ALVA SHASTEEN IN EFFORT TO FLEE

Charles Consoliver, Laurelville "tough guy," was in the county jail today in default of payment of $10 and costs assessed him by Mayor W. B. Cady for intoxication.

Consoliver came to town Wednesday afternoon "drunk to go" and he went to his apartment at Stenercock's beer parlor and, intoxicated, was refused anything to drink. Consoliver started to help himself and wound up in the hospital with a cut head. He was "kayoaded" with a beer glass.

He then went to jail under the care of Chief McCrady and Officer Fitzpatrick. Consoliver behaved himself for quite a while then he decided he wanted some tobacco.

Alva Shasteen, night officer, was on duty and sent Jim Ryan after tobacco. Shasteen obligingly went to the lock-up, opened the single steel door and was ready to give the Laurelville man the tobacco when "crash!" Mr. Consoliver came flying out the door intent to get away. Shasteen was unarmed and had only his fists to protect himself and try to keep the man in jail. Consoliver is described as weighing between 220 and 230 pounds. Shasteen knocked him down four times before he finally overcame him and put him back in jail.

The officer required medical aid for his right fist and went to Dr. Shabe's office to get it. Consoliver has a sore jaw, a sore head and a $10 fine plastered on him. Shasteen filed no charges in addition to those already filed by McCrady.

The distribution system is worth $106,947.74, the commission reports, with the total of physical property being valued at $250,032.72.

It is believed council will take no definite steps toward purchase of the plant and its distribution system until later.

The report of the utilities commission was placed in the hands of a committee of the whole headed by W. F. Baker.

Finance Listed

A warning to go easy with finances was heard in council Wednesday evening when W. M. Reid, of the finance committee, read the report of balances in various funds. The city now has $7,610.17 on hand divided as follows: general $1,204.13; auto license, $3,601.38; library, $1,457.04; gas tax, $1,318.16; Berger hospital, $27.49.

There are about $250 in unpaid bills on hand at the hospital, Mr. Reid reported, and advised they be paid.

"There will be no more money for the city until the tax distribution which will take place in a few weeks," Mr. Reid warned. "The city will get between $8,000 and $10,000. There will be no money from that time until the September distribution."

COUNCIL CITES BUSINESS MEN AS OFFENDERS

Lengthy Conference Takes Place Wednesday; All Sides Discussed

CLEAR SIDEWALKS

Mayor for Hour Limit on Saturday

Time parking in the business district from noon to midnight on Saturday loomed as a possibility today after council discussed the parking situation at great length Wednesday evening.

The matter was referred finally to the ordinance committee headed by W. M. Reid who indicated a time-parking ordinance will be prepared and presented probably at the next meeting May 1.

President John C. Goeller put the time-parking question before council by advocating a one-hour limit in the business district on Saturday. Councilman Dan Ryan followed Goeller's lead advocating the one-hour limit while Mr. Reid came to bat with a two-hour suggestion. What may finally result is uncertain.

Cady for One-Hour

Mayor W. B. Cady also said he favored a one-hour limit.

The limitation argument discussion took another slant when Councilman C. O. Leist declared a time-parking ordinance would necessitate additional police or the ordinance would not be enforced. The limitation argument gained momentum when several persons including councilmen and citizens remarked that Saturday's greatest traffic problem was brought about by merchants and their employees driving their automobiles to Court and Main-sts Saturday morning and leaving them there during the day. If this practice could be broken up, officials said, the parking situation might be alleviated. The one-hour time parking plan would eliminate continuous parking by the business men and their workers, council believes.

Postmaster Hulse Hayes, representing the Rotary club introduced the parking discussion when he said his club wanted council to limit parking of trucks in the business section to help alleviate the double parking menace. President Goeller had Clerk Fred Nicholas read for Mr. Hayes some ordinances now in effect against trucks parking in the business section. Mr. Hayes then offered a suggestion that the ordinances be amended to prevent parking of trucks uptown at all times.

Limit Stock Trucks

Mayor Cady brought up the question of stock trucks parking sometimes for many hours especially on E. Main-st. This question will be included in the ordinance to be prepared by Mr. Reid's committee.

While much stress was laid on the double parking situation Councilman Frank Marion and Safety Director L. T. Shaner defended double parking and said that many automobiles in town on Saturday

CONSERVANCY NEED SCORED BY ENGINEERS

Army Men Report Scioto Project Economically Unwarranted

Rep. Fiesinger Working for Huge Project

WASHINGTON, April 18—The Scioto-Sandusky conservancy project in Ohio ran into a temporary snag here today when the board of army engineers intimated that from a detailed study of the proposed plan, it appears to be economically unwarranted.

Total cost of the project has been roughly estimated by the army engineers at $18,000,000. Benefits are estimated at approximately $131,200 a year.

The Scioto-Sandusky diversion project is comprised of three main parts—a dam on the Scioto river at Bellport, a dam on the Sandusky river seven miles above Upper Sandusky, and a canal connecting these two reservoirs.

The proposed dam at Bellport would be located just above the mouth of Millcreek and would form a reservoir with a capacity of 49,700 acre feet. The discharge from the reservoir would be controlled by sluiceways provided with suitable regulating facilities.

Form Reservoir

The dam at McCutchenville, near Tiffin, and on the Sandusky river would form a reservoir of 250,000 acre feet and would be connected to the Bellport dam by a 10-mile canal across the low section of the divide separating the Sandusky and Scioto rivers.

Combined storage capacity of the two reservoirs would be 309,200 acre feet, the board of army engineers reported, and the excess flow at the two dam sites during flood stage is less than 200,000 acre feet, so that there would be storage capacity provided in excess of flood control need, which could be used for the development of hydro-electric power.

COLUMBUS, April 18—Snapping back that the army board of engineers' estimate was "ridiculously low," officials of the Scioto-Sandusky conservancy district here gave warning today that they

He outlined the need of a recreation park with a swimming pool, ball ground and other forms of playground activity and said that plans are now being made to make such a thing a reality through popular subscription. A resolution adopted by council to give the movement an authentic background was asked and Council President John Goeller named the finance committee, Ben Gordon, W. M. Reid and Clyde O. Leist to act with the group.

As FERA Project

No city funds will be needed for the project, Adkins said, with all labor to be obtained through FERA is possible. He estimated the cost of such a project including the site would be about $10,000. Councilman Frank Marion said he believed this figure low.

Adkins, an attorney, cited a number of towns and cities that have adequate playground facilities and said such attractions are considered when industries are seeking a location.

It is the plan of the group to have every civic group of the city enrolled on a general committee in an effort to make the recreation park an actuality.

Others Are Heard

Others who spoke in the interest of the project were:

Mrs. W. W. Robinson, head of the girl scout movement; Frank Fischer, superintendent of schools; Col. C. E. Groce, John Goeller and F. A. Marion.

It is probable a committee on parks will be added to the list now included in the council's set-up.

TOUGH GUY KAYOED BY ALVA SHASTEEN IN EFFORT TO FLEE

Charles Consoliver, Laurelville "tough guy," was in the county jail today in default of payment of $10 and costs assessed him by Mayor W. B. Cady for intoxication.

Consoliver came to town Wednesday afternoon "rain" to go—and he went. He appeared first at Stonerock's beer parlor and, intoxicated, was refused anything to drink. Consoliver started to help himself and wound up in the hospital with a cut head. He was "crowned" with a beer glass.

He then went to jail under the care of Chief McCrady and Officer Fitzpatrick. Consoliver behaved himself for quite a while then he decided he wanted some tobacco.

Alva Shasteen, night officer, was on duty and sent Jim Ryan after tobacco. Shasteen obligingly went to the lock-up, opened the single steel door and was ready to give the Laurelvillian the tobacco when—"crash!!"—Mr. Consoliver came flying out the door intent to get away. Shasteen was unarmed and had only his fists to protect himself and try to keep the man in jail. Consoliver is described as weighing between 220 and 230 pounds. Shasteen knocked him down four times before he finally overcame him and put him back in jail.

The officer required medical aid for his right fist and went to Dr. Shane's office to get it. Consoliver has a sore jaw, a sore head and a $10 fine plastered on him. Shasteen filed no charges in addition to those already filed by McCrady.

WATER COMPANY VALUATION FIXED AT $280,911 BY P.U.C.

Council Receives Figures From Commission; May Eventually Buy Utility

The property of the Ohio Water Service Co., operating here, is valued at $280,911.76, according to figures submitted to council Wednesday evening by Solicitor Carl Leist.

The valuation was asked from the Public Utilities commission with several members of council discussing possible purchase of the utility. The figures were compiled by Willis Rogers Dwyer, chief engineer for the commission.

The distribution system is worth $106,947.74, the commission reports, with the total of physical property being valued at $250,032.72.

It is believed council will take no definite steps toward purchase of the plant and its distribution system until later.

The report of the utilities commission was placed in the hands of a committee of the whole headed by W. F. Baker.

Finance Listed

A warning to go easy with finances was heard in council Wednesday evening when W. M. Reid, of the finance committee, read the report of balances in various funds. The city now has $7,610.17 on hand divided as follows: general $1,204.13; auto license, $3,601.38; library, $1,457.04; gas tax, $1,318.16; Berger hospital, $27.49.

There are about $250 in unpaid bills on hand at the hospital, Mr. Reid reported, and advised they be paid.

"There will be no more money for the city until the tax distribution which will take place in a few weeks," Mr. Reid warned. Then the city will get between $8,000 and $10,000. There will be no money from that time until the September distribution.

COUNCIL CITES BUSINESS MEN AS OFFENDERS

Lengthy Conference Takes Place Wednesday; All Sides Discussed

CLEAR SIDEWALKS

Mayor for Hour Limit on Saturday

Time parking in the business district from noon to midnight on Saturday loomed as a possibility today after council discussed the parking situation at great length Wednesday evening.

The matter was referred finally to the ordinance committee headed by W. M. Reid who indicated a time-parking ordinance will be prepared and presented probably at the next meeting May 1.

President John C. Goeller put the time-parking question before council by advocating a one-hour limit in the business district on Saturday. Councilman Dan Ryan followed. Goeller's lead advocating the one-hour limit while Mr. Reid came to bat with a two-hour suggestion. What may finally result is uncertain.

Cady for One-Hour

Mayor W. B. Cady also said he favored a one-hour limit.

The limitation argument discussion took another slant when Councilman C. O. Leist declared a time-parking ordinance would necessitate additional police or the ordinance would not be enforced.

The limitation ordinance gained momentum when several persons including councilmen and citizens remarked that Saturday's greatest traffic problem was brought about by merchants and their employees driving their automobiles to Court and Main-sts Saturday morning and leaving them there during the day. If this practice could be broken up, officials said, the parking situation might be alleviated. The one-hour time parking plan would eliminate continuous parking by the business men and their workers, council believes.

Postmaster Hulse Hayes, representing the Rotary club, introduced the parking discussion when he said his club wanted council to limit parking of trucks in the business section to help alleviate the double parking menace. President Goeller had Clerk Fred Nicholas read for Mr. Hayes some ordinances now in effect against trucks parking in the business section. Mr. Hayes then offered a suggestion that the ordinances be amended to prevent parking of trucks uptown at all times.

Limit Stock Trucks

Mayor Cady brought up the question of stock trucks parking sometimes for many hours especially on E. Main-st. This question will be included in the ordinance to be prepared by Mr. Reid's committee.

While much stress was laid on the double parking situation Councilman Frank Marion and Safety Director L. T. Shaner defended double parking and said that many automobiles in town on Saturday

ORDINANCE HITS FORTUNE TELLERS

Fortune tellers, palmists, astrologers or clairvoyants will have to obtain licenses costing up to $50 hereafter to operate in this city as a result of council passing an ordinance under suspension of rules Wednesday evening.

Mayor W. B. Cady told council that many such persons had asked permission to operate but that he had refused.

Heavy fines and imprisonment for violation of the ordinance are also provided.

HONOLULU, T. H., April 18—There was only one topic of conversation in the islands today—the trail blazing airmail and passenger flight of the Pan American Airways clipper plane from the mainland.

The conversation was the same in high territorial official circles and among plantation laborers—“Now we go by mainland overnight.”

The clipper plane, by its flight of 17 hours and 33 minutes, broke all previous time records for the 2,400-mile westward flight. The best previous record of 24 hours and 35 minutes was established by six navy planes last year.

The flight marked inauguration of commercial service between Honolulu and the mainland in the near future by Pan American Airways.

air mail service. The clipper plane carried 10,000 pieces of mail.

As soon as bases are established at Midway, Wake and Guam islands, the trail blazing will be extended to China.

Next week, probably Monday, the plane will return to Alameda airport. On the second flight westward, the plane will make a routine stop at Pearl Harbor and then continue on to Midway island, the second leg of the projected air route to the Orient.

Edwin C. Musick, skipper of the clipper, and Col. C. M. Young, manager of the Pacific division of Pan American Airways, were elated at the tremendous enthusiasm.

Before departing on the return trip to the mainland, the plane will make several exploratory flights of island terrain.

will wage a “last-ditch battle” for their $36,000,000 program.

Warning of the conservancy district officials was given following news dispatches from Washington where U. S. Army engineers indicated they would oppose a proposed allocation of $18,000,000 for the Summit level reservoir-canal, connecting reservoirs at Upper Sandusky and Belpoint.

The army engineers complained the benefits, which they estimated at $131,200 a year, to be derived would not warrant the expense of the project.

Named Vital Part

“The Summit level reservoir is a vital part of our program,” Alan N. Jordan, assistant secretary of the conservancy board, declared. “It would maintain a water level between lakes on the Sandusky and on the Scioto rivers.”

night indicated stores were doing heavy business. Mr. Marion said: “We can be a little too law enforcing as far as parking is concerned.” Shaner said: “I can't see how we can have business if there isn't some double parking.”

Frank A. Lynch, who attended the meeting, said he saw the practice of store-keepers and their employees of parking all day uptown as the biggest menace. “If these merchants only knew it,” he said, “they would benefit greatly by leaving their cars at home.”

Councilman Frank Baker expressed himself as being willing to time merchants and employees but not farmers and others.

Mr. Shaner broached the subject of several stores placing their supplies of groceries on the sidewalk in front of their business places. He was informed by Mr. Goelter that an ordinance preventing stores from placing anything on the walks farther than three feet from the front of their buildings is in effect but is not being enforced.

Reilly Who Acts He Be Studied By Bar

NEW YORK, April 18—Edward J. Reilly, former chief of counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, today demanded an investigation into the activities of C. Lloyd Fisher, erstwhile Reilly associate, and now head of the Hauptmann defense forces, by the New Jersey bar association.

He also formally asked Chancellor Luther A. Campbell, of Trenton, permission to withdraw from the case.

In his letter to the State Bar association, Reilly charged Fisher's actions during the Flemington trial were “highly unethical” and stated he found it difficult to get along with Fisher as the trial progressed.

Retained Fisher

Reilly also stated in the letter that in February, shortly after the completion of the trial resulting in Hauptmann's conviction, Mrs. Hauptmann approached him with a request to “get rid” of Fisher, but that he, Reilly, persuaded her to retain the Flemington lawyer.

He also fears, Reilly added, that an incomplete and poorly presented appeal will be made by his former associate, pointing out that arguments of the appeal are scheduled to be made on June 20, that the contract for the printing of the appeal was signed March 22. Copies of the printed case on appeal must be served on the attorney general by June 1, Reilly said, and he doubted that it was possible to get the record printed within the next six weeks.

This latest move on the part of the Brooklyn criminal lawyer followed his inability to obtain any details about the money in the Hauptmann defense fund, in which he claims there is more than $45,000.

Household Arts

The Patsy—that lovely flower of Spring that blooms late into Summer—makes this lovely quilt that is so easy to applique. You can make the flower in a different color in each block—use up scraps that way—or have the same material throughout. The flower is just one patch the petals being indicated by outline stitch. It's an easy patch to handle as are the leaves. You can apply the design to pillow, scarfs and other bedroom accessories, too, and so have them all harmonize. In pattern 5264 you will find the Block Chart, an illustration of the finished block in actual size, showing contrasting fabrics; accurately drawn pattern pieces; an illustration of the entire quilt; and exact yardage requirements. To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Herald Household Arts Dept., 124 W. Main St., Circleville, O.

FASCIST PLOT IS BROKEN AS 3 ARE CAUGHT

King Boris of Bulgaria Acts to Halt Effort to Force Abdication

VIENNA, April 18.—King Boris of Bulgaria today rushed an alleged attempt to force his abdication and establish a Fascist dictatorship, according to reports received here from Sofia.

Upon orders of King Boris himself, three prominent political leaders were arrested and held in jail, where an immediate attempt to free them was made by followers. Fascists stormed the jail but were turned back.

Those arrested and charged with plotting to overthrow the government and force Boris' abdication to clear the way for a Fascist regime were:

Alexander Zankoff, former premier and leader of the Democratic center;

Kozma Georgiev, also a former premier and leader of the Macedonian party; and

M. Natcheff, former police president of Sofia.

When orders for arrest of the trio were issued, the alleged plotters fled by train to Burgas. They soon were apprehended there, however.

They had not been jailed long before a large group of adherents descended upon the jail and made a desperate attempt to release the three, but after a brief skirmish police dispersed the attackers.

The crisis was expected to have one positive result, however, in the resignation of the cabinet of Premier Petko Ziareff, and the appointment by King Boris of Dimo Kazassoff, now minister to Yugoslavia, as the new premier.

Simon Stylites' Pillar

French archeologists have found not far from Antioch the pillar on which Simon Stylites lived for more than a generation. The legend is that Simon began with a pillar three feet in diameter but of moderate height, working his way up gradually until his last two years were spent at an elevation of 60 feet. From that vantage point Simon is said to have observed the ways of the world and meditated upon them at leisure over a period of 37 years. In that time he did not descend the column.

The Coon Oyster

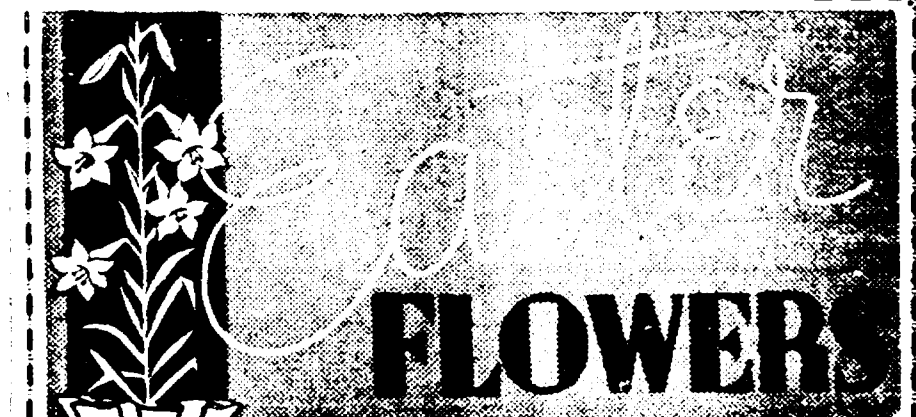

A coon oyster is one growing wild near shore, where it can easily be obtained by a raccoon. The name originated in the South, where these oysters are often called strap oysters because their clustered manner of growth makes them long, narrow and thin.

To stiffen your white organdie collar and cuffs, do not starch, but use in a strong solution of salt water. Iron while damp and the organdie will be sufficiently stiff without the glossy effect of starch.

Salt From the Earth

There are three ways in which salt may be secured: First, by mining; second, by evaporating sea water; and third, by digging wells until a salt vein is struck and then pouring water and pumping it up again as brine. When the veins or leads of salt lie at a great depth below the surface, it is usually much cheaper to resort to the brine well method than to mine it out like coal. This brine is put through a plant which heats, filters and evaporates it, leaving only the dry salt. When this product is refined, sifted and graded, it is ready for sale and use.

TEAM PLAYERS SOFT BALL LEAGUE

Clarence Helvering to Back
Cities Service Outfit; Signs
Hegele For Mound

The fourth team was definitely added to the recreation ball league Wednesday when Clarence Helvering decided he would enter a Cities Service nine. He has not yet designated his manager.

Others already entered are Jones Specials, backed by Alford Jones; Circleville Oils, backed by Glenn Nickerson, and Glitt's Grocery, backed by Joe Glitt.

The next meeting of the league will be Monday evening, April 22, with all interested persons expected to attend. The deadline for entries has been set at April 25.

It has been definitely learned the Mecca restaurant, contender last year, will not be in competition this season.

Helvering expects to have part of the Mecca team on his roster with his battery probably consisting of Bill Hegele and Judy Gordon.
Jaggy Davis, Earl Radcliff, Dutch Weller and others will be lined up.

Joe Glitt has not intimated who will be on his team while the Circleville Oils will have several replacements to make with Art Walker barred by the league rules unless he gets a job in town. The Jones team seems well set with Bob Jones for mound duty and practically the same team in the field as that which made a fast race last year in the closing half of the schedule.

ROSS TO TRAIN IN NORTH WOODS

CHICAGO, April 18 -- Barney
Ross, who this week abandoned the lightweight championship, will journey to the Wisconsin north woods shortly to begin training for the fifteen round welterweight championship bout with Jimmy McLarnin May 28 in New York.

Art Winch, Ross' manager, said he would leave Friday of next week for Loretta, Wis. for a period of preliminary training after which Ross and his retinue will go into training quarters at Ferndale, N. Y. about May 6.

ALEX MORRISON says: Live and learn, the old folks say. As I go along there are many things I haven't learned.
One is the difference between tolerance and a kind of stupidity.

Unknown to me a young fellow managed to include himself in a foursome recently. He has played less than a dozen rounds, taken no instructions and worse yet, thinks he can get by without them.

On every tee he would top the ball. It would roll into the rough about 50 feet. Then he would tee up a second and often a third ball and do the very same thing.
He spoiled the morning for the entire foursome.

I tried to be tolerant. After all each man has a perfect right to play the game as he sees fit.
But, those who try to play correctly also have the right to avoid the trials of playing with indifferent players.

Ruth-less Yanks Drop Second to Boston Sox

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, April 18. Being no better than a boss at heart to whom the mortification of others is something to greet a well bred leer, I'm all for giving the New York Yankees this morning my

Saturday, Sunday and holiday tear about that idea of theirs that they were going to get along so superbly without Ruth. After two days of 1935 baseball, in fact, it begins to seem that if there's any getting-along-without to be done,
Ruth will do it.

On opening day in Boston, he stole the show with a home run, a single and a great gloved hand catch. Yesterday, the Braves didn't play; this left the old man's shadow free to lurk in the corners of the stadium throughout a dank and desultory afternoon, making a mockery of the efforts of his extreme to win a ball game.

Frankly, they didn't although they went all the way to the tenth inning before losing to the Boston Red Sox, 4 to 3, for the second straight day. That may have been bad enough. The setting was worse.

In the first place, there were only 2,000 present, a pitiful few in a park like that. In the second place, Gehrig, the re-paint job on last year's Ruth model, threw wild for the second time in two days to lose the ball game. And in the last place, that's where the Yankees are this morning, with no victories and two defeats.

COLUMBUS, April 18--Scoring six runs in the last three innings of yesterday's contest with the Columbus Red Birds, the Indianapolis Indians overcame a two run Bird lead and downed the Brood by a 9 to 7 margin.

With the weather more suited for football than baseball, only 2,992 spectators witnessed the inaugural of the local American Association entrants. Over 15,000 fans had been expected.

TOLEDO, April 18. Smashing out 17 singles, the Louisville Colonels yesterday defeated the Toledo Mud Hens for the second consecutive day by walking off with an 11 inning, 5 to 4 score.
Bud Tising, recently acquired by the Colonels from Indianapolis, went the route for the winners and granted but 10 widely scattered blows.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 18--
With the season two games old, the Cincinnati Reds today boasted a 500 percentage in the standing of the National league after helping the Pittsburgh Pirates pry the lid off the baseball season here by annexing a 7 to 4 win at the expense of the home-towners.

Approximately 10,000 shivering fans watched the initial clash here. Derringer was on the mound for the rejuvenated Reds and after five innings of somewhat erratic pitching, he settled down to win.

Guy Bush drew the pitching assignment for the Bucs but he was sent to the showers and replaced by Swift in the eighth after the Reds turned loose a barrage of base hits. Erickson, the Cincinnati catcher, contributed a homerun to the Reds' 11 hits.

NEWARK, N. J., April 18--
The 52nd season of the International baseball league got off to a fare-thee-well yesterday with a veritable barrage of runs in the only two games played.

The Newark Bears sent Rochester to the showers here with the dust of a 16-3 slaughter-slinging to their embarrassed and torturing frames. Fern Bell, rookie outfielder, led the attack with two homers. Ted Kleinhaus held the Rochester outfit to six hits, while the Bears collected thirteen safeties from five Red Wing hurlers.

At Baltimore, the Orioles inaugurated their season by squeezing out a 13-12 decision over the Montreal Royals in the ninth. The play was sloppy, eight errors being divided between the teams.

The other league games scheduled yesterday were called off due to inclement weather.

Dog Lover

Pennsylvania's Representative
James Quinn is a lover of animals. Recently he introduced a bill banning vivisection in the District of Columbia.

He proposed to prohibit experiments upon living dogs except for "the healing or curing of said dog."

Quinn was eating a hot-dog in the House cloak-room the other day when a colleague remarked:
"Just from the terms of your bill I take it that restaurateurs in Washington will be prohibited from slicing frankfurters down the middle unless they apply mustard immediately thereafter."

Tsk, Tsk

Representatives Daly and Dorsey, known as Damon and Pythias among their colleagues because of their inseparableness were driving down Pennsylvania Avenue the other day. The drive was to take them to the Capital.
Traffic being light, the taxi-men stopped on the gas.
Before his apprehensive passengers could demand he slow down, he had collided with another car.

Whereupon he leaped from his car and began accusing the other driver of speeding.

To support this claim he called on Daly to testify that he had been driving slowly.

Shaken and bruised, the two legislators climbed painfully out of their car and glared at its driver.

"I doubt very much, Mr. Barney oldfied," remarked Daly icily,
"that you really want our version of this affair."

That failed to squelch the brassy hackman, however. As they limped away they heard him observe to the group that had gathered about the two smashed cars:

"Tsk, Tsk! Tight as a tick and at this hour of the morning, too!"

Dog Lover

Pennsylvania's Representative James Quinn is a lover of animals. Recently he introduced a bill banning vivisection in the District of Columbia.

He proposed to prohibit experiments upon living dogs except for "the healing or curing of said dog."

Quinn was eating a hot-dog in the House cloak-room the other day when a colleague remarked: "Jim, from the terms of your bill I take it that restaurateurs in Washington will be prohibited from slicing frankfurters down the middle unless they apply mustard immediately thereafter."

Tsk, Tsk

Representatives Daly and Dorsey—known as Damon and Pythias—among their colleagues because of their inseparableness were driving down Pennsylvania Avenue the other day. The drive was to take them to the Capital.

Traffic being light, the taxi-men slipped on the gas. Before his apprehensive passengers could demand he slow down, he had collided with another car.

Whereupon he leaped from his cab and began accusing the other driver of speeding.

To support this claim he called on Daly to testify that he had been driving slowly.

Shaken and bruised, the two legislators climbed painfully out of their car and glared at its driver.

"I don't very much, Mr. Barney Oldfield," remarked Daly icily, "that you really want our version of this affair."

That failed to squelch the brassy hackman, however. As they limped away they heard him observe to the group that had gathered about the two smashed cars: "Tsk, tsk! Tight as a tick and at this hour of the morning, too!"

MISSIONARIES FLEE BEFORE 'RED' HORDES

Many Americans, Canadians,
British in Danger Area;
Seek Protection

SHANGHAI, April 18.—Fleeing before advancing red hordes from the north, foreign residents at Chengtu, including many Americans, today evacuated the city and sought safety under the guns of foreign warships.

The foreigners, among them many American missionaries, abandoned their homes upon order of General Liu Shiang, chairman of Szechwan province. He decreed a general evacuation of all foreigners from all of Chengtu, populous capital of the province.

The move was in fear of attack by communist armies already only 150 miles north of the city.

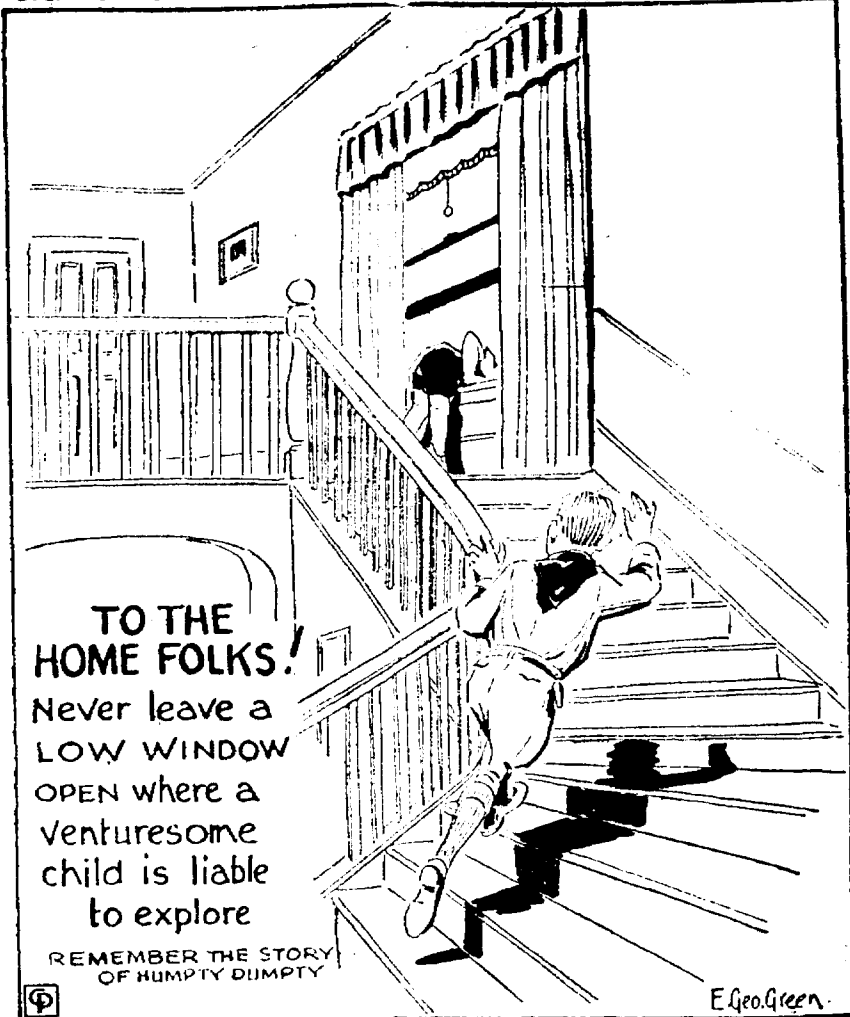

It was not clear immediately whether all of the Americans there were 52 living there, including 24 women and 13 children, were leaving their homes, nor was the percentage of evacuating British and Canadian families known.

Chines Leave Too
Many wealthy Chinese citizens were known to be leaving the area.

The refugees were leaving by airplane and all other available means of transportation for Chungking, a Yantse river port frequented by foreign gunboats. Meanwhile Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek personally was directing Defense of the area, and was building a circle of blackhouses about the city to "hold it at all costs." It was possible, in the opinion of some observers, that the red threat to Chengtu was to camouflage operations in southern Kan province, where missionaries have been in flight for several days.

The following American missions have posts at Chengtu: American Baptist, American Bible Society, Friends Service Council, Seventh Day Adventists, Methodist Episcopal Church, North, Y. M. C. A., and Y. W. C. A.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything.

What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and 10% of our food decays in our 25 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whipped tomato, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many people. Girl Dancer's "Fairy Tale" Comes True

Twin Brother She Thought Had Died as Baby in Orphanage Joins Her — Adopted by Different Families. Both Children Grew Up in Same City Unknown to Each Other

By IRENE N. DETTELBACH

Central Press Correspondent
CLEVELAND—A fairy tale has come true!

Two young Cleveland people feel that way about what has happened to them. Clara May David, a dancer and teacher, has found a twin brother whom she thought was dead. His name is Henry E. Walters.

The story is more romantic than any fiction.

The "Fairy Tale"

Twenty-four years ago two tiny blond infants were left orphans. After all these years, Henry Walters finally decided it was time to let his sister know that she had a brother. He had known it for almost 10 years, and had been wanting to tell her, but was advised not to.

Two weeks ago he found himself outside her studio. Three times he walked around the block. Finally he worked up enough courage to go in.

"Mrs. David," he asked Clara May's mother, "may I speak to you privately?"

He tells:

"Then he told her that he was Clara May's twin brother."

Mrs. David looked at him and smiled. She said "Since Clara May has become so well known, we've had many people come to tell us that—and we just don't believe them."

"Well, I can prove it by the records of the Humane society."

"Before we can believe we'll have to look at those records ourselves."

But just at that time, Clara May walked into the room.

"What do you think, Clara May, this young fellow says he's your twin brother."

"You Look Like Me!"

"That's impossible," she answered. "My brother died 24 years ago—but you do look like me. You have the same blond hair and blue eyes. Why, you do look a lot like me!"

The next day Clara May and her husband, Milton J. Rose, went to look over the records. They found that what Henry Walters had said was true.

Clara May remarks now:

"You know it is just like a fairy tale. It is simply wonderful. Why we like the same things and—I think it's wonderful just finding a brother all of a sudden."

And Henry adds:

"Yes, and we even dislike the same things. I can't stand the sight of rice or sour stuff and neither can she."

"And we both like athletics and music and dancing—and almost everything!"

How It Occurred

Twenty-four years ago there were two women in Cleveland. One desired to adopt a baby girl. She was Mrs. S. B. David. The other was about to give birth to her own baby. Her name, now after a remarriage, is Mrs. C. E. Gleeson.

Mrs. S. B. David went to an orphanage home where she saw twin blond, blue-eyed babies, a boy and girl. She took the girl home with her. When she told her husband about the twin boy, they decided that they desired him, too.

Back they went to get the boy.

"We are very sorry," Mrs. David was told, "the boy has died."

Disappointed, Mr. and Mrs. David returned home to shower their affections on their lovely young daughter.

During that same time, Mrs. C. E. Gleeson's baby boy died soon after his birth. She was very ill and her family was afraid to tell her. Her husband went to the same infants' home and there was given a beautiful blond baby boy. The boy never knew he was adopted until he was almost 14 years old. Soon after that he found out that he had a twin sister.

A few years ago he became inquisitive and looked up the records. There he found that his sister had been adopted by the Davids and now was married to Milton J. Rose, a pharmacist.

He says proudly "I could keep track of her because she always was doing things. I clipped every picture and story in the papers and kept them all."

When Clara May danced on the Loew's circuit, Henry went to watch her every day.

He remarks:

"She was so lovely and beautiful and I did so want to let her know that I was there, that I was her brother. I just wanted to go backstage and tell her."

The Davids and the Gleesons are delighted.

"Now we have a son as well as a daughter," says Mrs. David. "He is just like her, too. They are both so affectionate and impulsive."

Questions and Answers

I have heard that to remove the odor from fish, it should be soaked in cold water. Is this true?

If fish has been cooked and is to be served, it should be washed in warm water. It helps in removing the odor of fish. The odor is solidified by the heat and is removed by the hot water. Soaking a selection of fish in cold water is helpful in removing the odor from it.

Should eggs be kept in a refrigerator? If so, the temperature should be kept at 45 degrees, the temperature of the beaten egg white.

Eggs are perishable and should be kept in a cool place, preferably in the refrigerator, away from strong odors and flavors. Eggs, like milk, deteriorate readily and should be marketed from refrigerated storage. In heating, both egg whites and yolks heat up to a temperature of 140 degrees. If they are in a liquid, they will be cooked. To separate egg whites from the yolk, most easily, use a cold egg. Then if the eggs are to be beaten, allow them to warm to room temperature or place them in a warm bowl for lightest beating.

Let possible trouble be avoided by using a 2 1/2 inch egg. If the egg is too large, it will be too heavy and the result will be a flat cake.

Brain doughnuts, made by mixing cream, sugar, and eggs, are a delicious treat. Here is the recipe:

Brain Doughnuts

1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup cocoa
1/2 cup vanilla
1/2 cup baking powder
1/2 cup cream
1/2 cup vanilla extract

Cream shortening, add sugar and eggs. Add your milk and all-bran, and let cook while measuring and adding remainder of ingredients. Add dry ingredients and vanilla. Let dough become thick and cut. Fry in oil at a temperature of 375 degrees. Turn the doughnuts as soon as they come to the top of the grease and keep turning until a golden brown. Let drain on paper, which will absorb the fat. Dip in sugar and serve. Makes 1 dozen doughnuts.

How is the word "mousse" pronounced and what does it mean?

"Mousse" means froth or foam, and is usually applied to frozen foods containing whipped cream. It is pronounced as though spelled "mouse."

What does the term "chartrouse" mean in cooking?

"Chartrouse" is a French term used for a dish in which the main material is concealed by an outer covering of another such as chicken turnover, or a fritter.

Questions and Answers

I have heard that to remove the odor from dishes in which fish has been cooked or served, cold water should be used for washing. Is this true?

If dishes in which fish has been cooked are rinsed in cold water before washing in warm, soapy water it helps in removing the odor of fish. The oils are solidified enough that they are more easily removed by the hot suds. Sometimes a solution of soda or baking soda is helpful in dissolving the odorous fish oil.

Should eggs be kept in a refrigerator? Does the temperature have anything to do with the lightness of the beaten egg white?

Eggs are perishable and should be kept in a cool place, preferably in the refrigerator, away from strong odors and flavors. Eggs, like milk, deteriorate readily and should be marketed from refrigerated storage. In beating, both egg whites and yolks beat up to a larger, fluffier foam if they are at room temperature when beaten. To separate egg whites from the yolks most easily, use cold eggs. Then if the eggs are to be beaten, allow them to warm to room temperature or place them in a warm bowl for lightest beating.

Is it possible to make doughnuts from bran? What kind of bran is used, shreds or flakes?

Bran doughnuts may be made from All-bran, the shredded cereal. Here is the recipe:

Bran Doughnuts

- 2 Tbsp. shortening
- 1 C. sugar
- 2 eggs (well beaten)
- 3/4 C. sour milk
- 1 C. All-bran
- 3/4 C. bread flour
- 1 tsp. soda
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
- 1 tsp. vanilla extract

Cream shortening, add sugar and eggs. Add sour milk and All-bran, and let soak while measuring and sifting remainder of ingredients. Add dry ingredients and vanilla. Roll dough 1/2-inch thick and cut. Fry in deep fat at a temperature of 370 degrees. Turn the doughnuts as soon as they come to the top of the grease and keep turning until a golden brown. Let drain on paper, which will absorb the fat. Dip in sugar and serve. Makes 3 dozen doughnuts.

How is the word "mousse" pronounced and what does it mean?

"Mousse" means froth or foam, and is usually applied to frozen foods containing whipped cream. It is pronounced as though spelled "moose."

What does the term "chartreuse" mean in cooking?

PARKING PROBLEM PUT UP TO BUSINESS MEN OF CITY

C. OF C. URGES THEY LEAVE AUTOS HOME ON SATURDAY

The Chamber of Commerce after publicly urging merchants and clerks to leave their automobiles at home on Saturday to leave parking places for customers followed that action, Wednesday, by sending letters to many of the merchants.

Co-operation of all business men and clerks is urged.

The letter follows:
"Dear Sir:
"Circleville is confronted with a serious traffic problem in the business section, particularly on Saturday, that is causing considerable comment, not only from residents but from the rural population who patronize local merchants.

"How to solve this situation has caused much discussion. City Council may consider passing a limited parking ordinance, which when enforced will partly solve the problem. But, such an ordinance will not doubt meet the objections from many of the rural people who do their shopping in Circleville.

"The Chamber of Commerce being interested in any and all problems that affect the business life of Circleville, is attempting to alleviate this situation to the satisfaction of the whole community.
"If a limited parking ordinance is passed it may drive business that has been coming to Circleville to other communities. We are sure the business men of Circleville do not want to offend any of their customers and want all the business they can get.

"We have a suggestion to offer that we hope will help solve the parking problem and ask your cooperation. Here is our suggestion: if you or any of your employees drive their automobile to work, do not park in the business section on Saturday. By the business section we mean Main-st from Scioto-st to the first alley east of Court-st and on Court-st from Watt to Franklin-sts.

"This will give your customers more parking space and it will certainly be one way to show the rural customers that their patronage is appreciated.

"If you will do this, everybody concerned will be benefited and we ask that you cooperate with us in trying to solve this problem.
Very truly yours,
The Circleville Chamber of Commerce"

"CONTACT" MEN FOR ROOSEVELT

Apparently aiming to work out the remainder of his legislative program in closer relation with congress, President Roosevelt has pressed into service a "contact" man in the person of Charles West, former representative from Ohio. The chief executive has placed other former members of congress into positions that will improve the "contacts". Former Representative Jeff Busby of Mississippi has been placed in the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and former Representative Russell Ellzey of Mississippi was appointed to the Home Owners Loan Corporation.

Scholarship Tests
Last Friday five schools assembled at Williamsport for the scholarship elimination tests. The following Atlanta pupils ranked high in this section of the county. John Lamb won first place in Physics; Lawrence Hunter, first in World History; Herbert Lamb, first in Latin I; Allen Conrad, first in Geometry, and second in Physics; and Maynard Campbell, second in Geometry.

In the county-wide competition, John Lamb won first in Physics, Lawrence Hunter won second in World History and Allen Conrad won second place in Physics.

These three boys will represent Atlanta and Pickaway county in the District-State scholarship tests at Ohio State University on May 4.

We are proud of their accomplishments and feel that they have done well.

THE CAR that has WON AMERICA

The Ford V-8 for 1935 has been an outstanding success, not because of anything we have said about it but because of what owners have said about it... At Country Clubs... In Pullman Cars... In Airplanes... In Living Rooms... At filling stations and on the streets. And all these comments tend to fall under four heads: one, "The new V-8 rides like a dream"; two, "It's smartly designed"; three, "It costs less to run" and four, "It performs like 'nobody's business'!"

AUTHORIZED FORD DEALERS

● AT A FILLING STATION
"We don't see you so often, Mr. Bradley."
"Well—I don't have to come around for gas quite so often with this new Ford V-8. It's by all odds the most economical car I've ever driven—and that goes for oil consumption, too."

● MADAM CONSULTS WITH "JAMES"
"I used to make the trip in an hour—but I've got only 50 minutes today."
"You won't need the 50 minutes, Madam, if you take the Ford. That V-8 engine takes you through traffic like 'nobody's business'... And you won't have to slow down for the rough roads, either—not in a Ford."

● AT A BRIDGE TABLE
"I didn't realize until I saw your Ford how really smart a car it is."
"Inside or out?"
"Both... And the roominess!... Why there's all that space for bags and still George said there was more room for his legs than in a limousine."

● 4,000 FT. OVER THE ALLEGANIES
"Pretty smooth flying today."
"Yes, the folks back home wouldn't believe it if I told them this airplane ride was rough compared to a trip in our Ford V-8."
"You got one too?—Say! that 'Comfort Zone Ride' they give you in this year's job has got to be tried to be appreciated, hasn't it?"

GOLD DIGGERS, BEWARE

PLEASING as it may be to the male sex that war on "heart balm racketeers" has spread from Indiana, where it was begun, to thirteen other states, it must be a little humiliating to hear some of the Amazons leading the fight talk as they do. The best champions of this war against the "gold diggers" appears to be women and the most bitter opponents men, many of them bachelors. Mrs. Robert West Nicholson, Indiana's only woman legislator, who fired the first gun, gives the gallant explanation that "many bachelors retain what might be called Victorian ideals about protecting women." A chivalric sentiment runs in their veins and they would lean backward to protect women from the heartless male flirt, even to the extent of letting the still more heartless adventuress get her hooks on the unsuspecting or indiscreet male.

Mrs. Nicholson would protect the men from the chivalry of their own sentimental natures. "Women," she says, "have deep disgust for those of their own sex who try to masquerade an itching hand with an aching heart." Well they may, for money never cured an aching heart. "Many waters cannot quench love," sang Solomon, "neither can the floods drown it; if a man would give all the substance of his house for love, it would utterly be condemned." It is a proverb that "the heart knoweth its own bitterness" and does not want any stranger, much less the courts meddling with it. Women who know these things would protect the men preyed upon by women who substitute itching for aching.

Mrs. Blanche Hower, who introduced a bill into the Ohio Legislature to outlaw breach of promise and alienation suits from the Common Pleas and lesser courts, mothers the men a little more openly. "It's for the protection of men," she says, "particularly those grown a bit old, but who still like to play around a bit." She evidently approves the adage "There's no fool like an old fool" and throws the mantle of charity around him. At any rate, she's not going to let the cheap representatives of her own sex mulct him on the weak plea of an aching heart.

COUNTERFEIT BOOM

ANOTHER symptom of the depression is a flood time of counterfeit money. The chief of the federal secret service reports a marked increase in the last two years, a condition of which banks and merchants everywhere have long been aware.

No excuses are necessary for the secret service. The public realizes how difficult it is to track down the maker and passer of "queer" money and understands why this crime is more prevalent in hard times when good money is scarce.

It was to be expected that when the depression hit the bootlegging racket the men and women who had learned the feel of easy money in that illicit trade would turn to some other illegal traffic and that the more daring or desperate would find it an easy step from bootlegging to counterfeiting. But it is not known generally that even when there was big and easy money in beating the prohibition laws there were gangs of rum-runners who bought their wet goods with the "queer."

There is enough spurious currency in circulation that it behooves everyone to inform himself on the difference between the good and the bad and to scrutinize every bill received in change. Those who attempt to pass counterfeit money knowing to be unlawful are as guilty as the man who printed it, so there is danger in taking too much for granted even as to the routine transactions of the day.

The news has leaked out that Princess Barbara is an amateur poet, which may explain the failure of the prince to contest the Reno proceedings.

One of our great natural resources, an abundant crop of bad men, is gradually being wiped out, without tears or regrets, at least so far as the mass of the people are concerned.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

The junior-senior banquet and reception of Kingston high school was held. Miss Virginia Lee Orr was in charge of the program.

E. W. Seeds, Ashville banker, addressed a meeting of the bankers of south-central Ohio held in Chillicothe. His subject was "Why Are Financial Statements Required?"

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Denman entertained a large number of guests at their home, E. Main-st., on their golden wedding anniversary.

15 YEARS AGO

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hornbeck, 60, died at her home on S. Scioto-st. after an illness of more than a year. She was a native of Williamsport, moving to Circleville in 1910.

In the try-out of the oratorical contest of Ashville high school, Miss Helen Peters, N. Court-st., was the winner. Her essay subject was "The Parting of the Ways." Those next in rank were Miss Elizabeth Reichelderfer, Orville Weser, Miss Leona Wright, Paul Hay and Miss Ruby Bell.

Ted Lewis, jazz musical king, was invited by Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of President Wilson, to play at a social function at the White House.

25 YEARS AGO

A Roundhead bootlegger made a mistake when he sold a flask of liquid labeled "hair tonic" to a minister of the gospel. The mistake resulted in a raid and the confiscation of several cases of "hair tonic."

A special train bearing a number of officials of the C. & M. V. railroad cr a tour of inspection made a stop-over in Circleville.

The seventh annual institute of the Pickaway-co W. C. T. U. was held in the M. E. Church at Derby, with Mrs. Mary H. Dunlap presiding.

A Thought for Today

"And he saith unto them, Be not affrighted: Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified; he is risen; he is not here; behold the place where they laid him."

—St. Mark 16:6.

GYPSY GIRL

CHAPTER 35

CONSUELO basked in the warmth of homage that fell upon her. She accepted jewelry and presents and for payment laughed and went her merry way and no man touched her lips. If she had been confident before, she was cocksure now, and this new assurance of power carried out into the audience, and if they had applauded before, now they applauded more and sometimes the show was stopped for five minutes while they recalled her.

Goldberg fretted and chafed that he could not put her on as headliner in the show. The kid was a sensation, no doubt of that. The papers, too, began to sense that something should be done about it. They wanted to know why the gypsy was given only one act, and there were remarks printed about L'Ville that did not forebode well for the star of the show. Other producers came to see if they could get the gypsy and even if she could have gone to them she would not.

Goldberg raised her salary and had another act written for her and rushed rehearsals. He made a place for her in the finale and she stayed with the curtains. Again Louise fought with Goldberg and gained no ground. Goldberg begged Stewart to buy Louise off and put Consuelo on, but Stewart would not. After all, why should he do anything more for the gypsy when she was too busy to see him?

His gifts stopped. He was hurt and angry with her. He liked to think that it was the success that had gone to her head, but deep within him he knew that it was not so. He heard about her from this one and that, and saw the new jewelry she wore, and he told himself that she was nothing but a common gypsy. Nevertheless he was piqued that she should wear other gifts than his and treat him so indifferently.

Consuelo worked harder than ever with Renaldo. Louise's dancing partners came down and practiced long hours with her. The little understudy was given a place in the pony line-up and the gypsy became the official understudy. Costumes were duplicated and all was in readiness for the time when Louise might not show up, either from accident, illness or for any other reason.

The gypsy waited. The wait grew tiresome, for no strong-willed gypsy is used to waiting, but still she held her peace and did not act—not yet. She had not seen Stewart for a week when he appeared at her dressing room door.

"Ah, my friend, I am glad to see you again."

He came into the room and looked at her. Then he laid down his cane and hat.

"I wonder."

"Now what is it you wonder about?"

"Oh, nothing. Waiting for the finale."

"Yes. Mr. Goldie has been so good to me. You have seen my new act? You have seen me in the finale? Yes? I am pretty fine, eh?" She put back her head and laughed her throaty laugh. "At the train so long ago you said I couldn't dance good enough, do you remember, white man? It is different now."

"Yes, of course. Different in many ways. Are you having a good time?" His voice was quite impersonal, but his eyes were upon her as they had been that first time they met.

"Yes. The men of New York are

"Are you having a good time?"

generous. I have found that gold is less than clear water. Marcu gave my father three horses and an unborn colt and a purse of gold and a watch and the gypsies said it was a good price in America for a woman, but I have been offered a thousand times that."

"To marry you?" Cynical question.

She held up her pretty fingers.

"There have been five who have said, gypsy girl, I will give you anything in the world if you will marry me." Her eyes darkened. Her red lips pouted. "I have said no to all of their offers, but I find that it might be easy to say yes."

She paused. "You see, there is not one of them who can give me what I want." The coquetry was stripped from her. "All of my life I have had one dream and it has swept every thing else aside. I have seen a marble palace on top of a high hill and I was dancing there. I left the gypsy camp and my own people and the sound of Romany and the tang of sweet night air and the music of gypsy laughter to come to New York because I thought that here I would find the end of my dream. But it is not true and I am unhappy. I am standing within reach of this thing I want and it eludes me!" She bent her head in her hands. She was trembling.

"To the person who will give me my dream I will pay any price!" The words were wrung from the very depths of her heart.

There was silence between them.

"What a queer little mix you are. Here I thought you were only concerned with the good time you were having. Is your dream then still so strong?"

"More than life itself!"

"Can't you be satisfied with going slowly? There is next year, you know. You are building your foundations now."

"You do not know that for a thousand years I have been making myself ready for now. Next year, next year! No! Now is the time! Now, white man, now! I am ready. I am a watch and the gypsies said it was a good price in America for a woman, but I have been offered a thousand times that."

"And you think this is fair to Louise?"

"Fair? Fair? How can I care whether it is or not? I am me—just me—more than me perhaps, but of the more I do not know. I am burning up with my desire. I am consumed by a white flame. I am a prisoner. I stand down in the wings and I see this woman dancing and singing and she is like a hundred devils to me. I hold back my feet that I do not run out on the stage in front of her and cry aloud, this is my place! And I hold back my hands that I do not tear her hair from her head!"

The lights flickered, recalling her. She turned to the dressing table and mechanically took up her rouge.

"I have been talking like a mad woman." Her voice was heavy. "I have been looking into the impossible and I am tired of it."

The lights flickered again.

"The end of the show for tonight. Finale. I go down and for a moment drink from a cool fountain and carry with me the sound of their applause. We will both be on the stage, this light-haired woman and I, but I shall know that the applause is for me and she will know it too."

She got to her feet and went to him. She put her hands on his face and looked down at him. "You will be here when I come back?"

"Yes."

CAN EAST GO GAME?

MOST MODERN bidders would refuse to make an opening bid of 1-Heart, as West did. His probable trick strength is too small, but West bid. North bid 2-Clubs and East overcalled with 2-Spades. Rather than support at once on 3 low spades, West went 2-No Trumps. When East bid 3-Spades, West raised to 4-Spades. South doubled.

The opening lead was the 9 of clubs. North's K won the trick, picking up declarer's long Q. To cut down possible ruffs, East led a diamond. North led back his lowest trump. East was in with his K, dropping South's J. Declarer's chances for game appeared very small. He had to lose at least one trump trick and one diamond trick. As a matter of fact East failed to fulfill his contract. His partner required whether any play by East would yield game.

Proper play is not a mere double-dummy proposition. East should see from opponents' play that his only chance for game is to hold back playing his Q of diamonds, and try to squeeze South, who has doubled. Unless South has the missing blocking hearts and the K or diamonds, game is impossible. Suppose we try for the squeeze as East would, provided he realized what his only hope was.

Lead the 2 of diamonds. Win with dummy's Ace. Lead dummy's last diamond. When North plays a low diamond, as expected, declarer must play low. Let South's 10 win the trick. Of course South will lead his last trump, and declarer's Ace will win, leaving the 10 of spades good, without definitely locating that card. Lead the 6 of diamonds. Use dummy's last trump to win the trick.

Take a trick with the K of hearts. Lead a low heart and win with the Q. Lead one of declarer's three trumps. South and dummy will discard clubs. North will be in with his last trump. Having nothing left except 4 clubs he must lead one of them. The declarer must trump the trick. The three cards held by each player are shown in the diagram below. East is still in the lead. He must lose no more tricks to fulfill his contract.

Doctors Can Say No Good Of Tobacco, Yet All Smoke

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A YEAR OR two ago, at a meeting of a learned medical society whose special field is the action of drugs and the treatment of diseases, a member read a paper on the effect of tobacco.

In the discussion which followed one member delivered himself succinctly as follows:

"There have been some hard things said about tobacco, and there have been some who defend it. There has been no one able to say a good thing that it does. Why don't we dispense with it?"

Why, indeed? I know of nothing helpful that it does. I know of very little physiological effect that I feel from my own smoking. It may do some harm. It certainly costs money. I know from experience that it is a very easy habit to give up. Why don't I do it?

Ask me another. At least, I know this—the tobacco industry need not worry about any such arguments. The sales will go on just the same.

What do doctors think about tobacco? People are always wanting to know that. Well, one answer is to invite you to go into the room when an average medical society meeting is being conducted. Tobacco smoke hangs like a fog around those learned heads.

In spite of the fact that they use it, doctors don't know of any good that it does. Coffee and tea, on the contrary, in moderation, may be said to help the body. To a less extent, the same thing may be said of alcoholic beverages. But tobacco is not helpful at all. It doesn't aid digestion or quiet nerves or anything else.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendingen can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

DARBY SCHOOL NEWS

Lost—"The Blue Bag"
Where "Darby High School"
When Friday, April 26, at 8:00 p. m.

A small admission price will register you at the Macklyn Hotel the night of Friday, April 26, at eight o'clock, to be a witness in the search for "The Blue Bag" as conducted by the Darby High School Seniors under the direction of that Ace of Detectives, Edward Hicks. But "when a lad's in the case, you know all other things give place," which is no exception in the case of Ed; especially when the very sophisticated actress, Mary Stump, appears and becomes involved in the tangle.

A restful evening? Well, I guess The Macklyn Hotel has eight rooms, and in the words of Jean McMillen, the DUMB maid, "You can rest in all the rooms since they all have beds in 'em." The Hotel is run by Bruce Ridgway who in turn is run by his bustling wife, played by Louella Stires. "A public wedding" takes place right under her very nose. Romance? Yes sir, jumbled right under the heading of "brother eloping with sister." At least, David Greene and Mildred Suver try to appear as such, but a brother seldom takes the trouble to kiss his sister in public, let alone in private. Mystery? The smooth-working, jewel smugglers, Wendell Wardell and Frances Poulson, have all the polish and glamour of the stolen jewels themselves.

Humor? The fact that Donald Grubel has made a wager that he can make an impression on the first girl who passes, even in spite of his bashfulness, is cause enough for smiles from those who know him. Added to this, are the wise-cracks and boasting of Bob Greene, the handsome, blonde chauffeur from the East Side of "New York" who has caught a bad case of love, and needs Bash-tel Donald's help when it comes to the crucial moment of "poppin' the question."
Such hilarity must be deserved. We guarantee no "Blues," except plenty of "Blue Bags." The production is under the direction of Miss DeMuth. Seats all reserved. Tickets on sale at the Derby School Building, beginning Monday morning, April 22.

We congratulate Mary Ellen Creamer on her excellent showing in the County Oratorical Contest at Williamsport last Friday night. She was rated second, Thomas Akire of Pickaway being the winner.

A number of our high school students took part in the elimination scholarship contest held at Ashville last Saturday.

A Message to the Housewives

We really don't want to brag about our product but it seems that in order to tell you what it really is like, we must brag a little.

Hundreds of women who bought our bread—not knowing what brand they were buying—have come back to their grocer and asked for the same make of bread they bought the day before. This incident at least proves we have the type of bread the women of the community are looking for. We also know they will continue to use it once it is given a trial.

The fine even texture of our bread is one of the things that instantly attracts your attention.

The crust is thin and tender—much more so than ordinary breads. It has a sweet and fresh flavor that cries of cleanliness and of high quality ingredients. It is fresh the day you buy it and will remain fresh—we don't say two or three days—but at least a day longer than other breads.

The housewives of this community have a bakery in their midst that can produce as good a bread—in many cases much better—than any other brand they have been buying. We know that many housewives have never given our bread a trial and that is all we ask. Serve our long loaf bread once and you will serve no other.

The next time you send "Johnny" to the grocer for bread tell him to ask for Wallace's long loaf and we know that you will be more than pleased.

DARBY SCHOOL NEWS

Lost—"The Blue Bag."
Where—"Darby High School."
When—Friday, April 26, at 8:00 p. m.

A small admission price will register you at the Macklyn Hotel the night of Friday, April 26, at eight o'clock, to be a witness in the search for "The Blue Bag" as conducted by the Darby High School Seniors under the direction of that Ace of Detectives, Edward Hicks. But "when a lad's in the case, you know all other things give place," which is no exception is the case of Ed., especially when the very sophisticated actress, Mary Stump, appears and becomes involved in the tangle.

A restful evening? Well, I guess The Macklyn Hotel has eight rooms, and in the words of Jean McMillen, the DUMB maid, "You can rest in all the rooms since they all have beds in 'em." The Hotel is run by Bruce Ridgeway who in turn is run by his bustling wife, played by Louella Stires. "A public weddin' takes place right under her very nose."

Romance? Yes sir, jumbled right under the heading of "brother eloping with sister." At least, David Greene and Mildred Suver try to appear as such, but a brother seldom takes the trouble to kiss his sister in public, let alone in private.

Mystery? The smooth-working,

jewel smugglers, Wendell Wardell and Frances Poulson, have all the polish and glamour of the stolen jewels themselves.

Humor? The fact that Donald Grabill has made a wager that he can make an impression on the first girl who passes even in spite of his bashfulness, is cause enough for smiles from those who know him. Added to this, are the wisecracks and boasting of Bob Greene the handsome, blonde chaffeur from the East Side of "New York," who has caught a bad case of love, and needs Bashful Donald's help when it comes to the crucial moment of "poppin the question."

Such hilarity must be deserved. We guarantee no "Blues," except plenty of "Blue Bags." The production is under the direction of Miss DeMuth. Seats all reserved. Tickets on sale at the Derby School Building, beginning Monday morning, April 22.

We congratulate Mary Ellen Creamer on her excellent showing in the County Oratorical Contest at Williamsport last Friday night. She was rated second, Thomas Aldridge of Pickaway being the winner.

A number of our high school students took part in the elimination scholarship contest held at Ashville last Saturday.

A Message to the Housewives

We really don't want to brag about our product but it seems that in order to tell you what it really is like, we must brag a little.

Hundreds of women who bought our bread—not knowing what brand they were buying—have come back to their grocer and asked for the same make of bread they bought the day before. This incident at least proves we have the type of bread the women of the community are looking for. We also know they will continue to use it once it is given a trial.

The fine even texture of our bread is one of the things that instantly attracts your attention.

The crust is thin and tender—much more so than ordinary breads. It has a sweet and fresh flavor that cries of cleanliness and of high quality ingredients. It is fresh the day you buy it and will remain fresh—we don't say two or three days—but at least a day longer than other breads.

The housewives of this community have a bakery in their midst that can produce as good a bread—in many cases much better—than any other brand they have been buying. We know that many housewives have never given our bread a trial and that is all we ask. Serve our long loaf bread once and you will serve no other.

The next time you send "Johnny" to the grocer for bread tell him to ask for Wallace's long loaf and we know that you will be more than pleased.

To distress... I bring comfort I'm your best friend
I am your Lucky Strike

Try me I'll never let you down

I give you the mildest smoke, the best-tasting smoke. You wonder what makes me different. For one thing, it's center leaves. I spurn the little, sticky, top leaves... so bitter to the taste. I scorn the coarse bottom leaves, so harsh and unappetizing. I do not irritate your throat. I bring comfort. I am the best of friends.
